WESTMINSTER SPECIAL.

Indications of a Lively Political Campaign.

The Writ for the Election Anxiously Looked For.

Miniature Bombardment by Corporation Workmen—The Westminster-Vancouver Lacrosse Match—Railway Bonus By-Law.

(From our own Correspondent).

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 10.—Westminster will accept the challenge of the Vancouver Lacrosse Club to play a return match on Saturday week, if the latter agrees that the match be for the Alhambra Cup and the championship. On no other conditions will Westminster play.

The blasting operations on the Pelham street improvements, which have been carried on with all the vigor of a regular bombardment, were brought to an abrupt close last night, when the windows of one house and the front door of another were crushed in by flying boulders. The people had to fly the neighborhood. Mayor Townsend promptly stopped the blasting.

The $150,000 railway bonus by-law comes up for vote on Monday and public sentiment is strong with it. It is sure to be carried by a large majority.

The political outlook is bright for a lively campaign. Ex-Mayor Dickinson's friends are getting a lengthy requisition signed, which will be presented to-morrow. He refused to come out unless "requisitioned." Ald. Cunningham is in the field, and has a strong backing, and his chances for election are good at present. Mr. Jemsas a semi-independent government supporter is not considered a strong candidate for many reasons. The writ for the election is anxiously awaited.

THE WESTMINSTER ELECTION.

Public Meeting to Select a Representative for the Local House.

The meeting held at Westminster on Wednesday evening, to select a candidate to represent the city in the Legislative Assembly was a large and representative one. The gallery was packed with the elite of the city, from Senator McInnes down. Mayor Townsend, who was voted to the chair, called the meeting to order. Mr. Jenns was first called on to speak and responded with an apology for being a lawyer. He said he could not promise an unconditional support to a new and untried government without any definite policy. He would follow his inclination in voting on any measures that might come before the Legislature. He was in favor of the redistribution of seats. He said that Vancouver Island returned twelve members, and he did not think we were ever equally represented by three. Mr. Jenns' speech occupied ten minutes. Mr. Thos. Cunningham was next called on and in response said if a barrister made an apology for brevity, certainly he could. He was surprised that Mr. Jenns begged off on that excuse. He said he felt a little diffident. It is certainly enough to be criticised by the ordinary press, but here there were the greatest of Canada's caricaturists (alluding to the presence of Mr. Bengough, of Grip.) It was Mr. Hendry and himself who were the instigators of the work that opened up our river navigation. It was he who pledged this city to have all the preparations completed for the Provincial Exhibition. He did a little in fruit and took first prize for that in Canada, and made it known that it was a Westminster man who "captured the bakery." He asked the support of his hearers as the champion of the rights of the agriculturists. He was in sympathy with the Provincial government, because it has the only practical solution of the questions of the day. The city required a court house to cost $25,000, a $2,000 school house, and he would make a big push for both if returned. He would insist on a trunk road round the North Arm and wanted a bridge (and intended to have one) to connect with Lulu Island. Mr. Jenns referred to the bridge at Pitt river. That was no new thought. It must come. Victoria has been the dog and the mainland the tail. But to-day the tail is larger than the dog. It was a united mainland, and a redistribution of seats was a necessity, with the seat of government in New Westminster, and they meant to have it.

Alderman Jacques asked why they should support a man who has foresworn his allegiance to the Queen and provincial government.

Mr. Cunningham said that he had never sworn allegiance to any government other than that of Queen Victoria. He explained that some twenty years ago he had made a declaration to become a citizen of the United States, but that was only for the purpose of a settlement of land, and he ended by saying that he was a Briton, and a loyal one too.

Ex-Mayor Dickenson was next called on. He said if Alderman Cunningham would only do half what he had promised they had better send him to the Legislature at once.

A resolution was moved by Mr. Hendry, seconded by Mr. J. McMurphy, "that in the opinion of this meeting Mr. Thomas Cunningham is the proper person to represent the city in the Legislature of British Columbia, and that this meeting pledges itself to support him."

An amendment was moved by Mr. G. A. Kelly, seconded by Mr. J. Beers, to the effect that Mr. Cunningham is not a fit person to represent the city, and that either Mr. Dickenson or Mr. Jenns should be elected. On this amendment Mr. T. J. Trapp spoke at length. He thought that it would be a graceful act of this meeting to decide who should be elected by acclamation, and as it appeared to be a very representative gathering it ought to settle the question of choice right there and save trouble and expense.

Mr. Dickenson was proposed by Mr. Webb, seconded by Mr. Howey.

Mr. Dickenson said that he would stand as a candidate if properly called on by a requisition of the ratepayers of the city, but so far he had not received such.

Alderman Curtis came forward and displayed considerable eloquence, tempered by good sense. He spoke decidedly against negative representation, and said he would not give two straws for a man who had no decided programme. He spoke in favor of Alderman Cunningham. He thought Mr. Jenns had not sufficiently identified himself with any movement of public interest, and that Alderman Cunningham had taken a very active part in all municipal affairs as long as he had resided there.

The meeting appeared to be divided equally between the three probable candidates. About 200 persons were present out of a voting population of 1,200. It is hardly possible to say how the contest may go. It is probable that one of the three candidates will withdraw, and it is thought the contest will be between Alderman Cunningham and Mr. Jenns. Mr. Dickenson may, however, be prevailed on by his friends to contest the election.

FREE SCHOOLS IN ENGLAND.

Queen Victoria Ashamed of the Illiteracy of Her Subjects.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—One good is likely to result from the visit of Emperor William to England recently. Among the questions he asked, in his nervous, incisive way, was one as to the percentage of illiterate persons in England. An approximate estimate being given, he bluntly expressed his surprise at the existence of such a condition of ignorance in a country so wealthy and so high in the scale of civilization.

His comments were repeated to the Queen, who lost no time in laying the matter before her advisers and requesting them to suggest a remedy.

The persistent agitators who have for so many years kept the question of free schools before the public, in spite of their discouraging experience, feel at least that there is a prospect of seeing their labors crowned with success, but they complain bitterly of the indifference of most of the people of high position and the open hostility of others, who do not hesitate to proclaim education the parent of socialism and anarchy, and frankly say that the common people know too much already.

STUCK IN THE MUD.

Inglorious Termination of a Race Across the Atlantic.

The ss. City of New York Hard and Fast Aground Through the Incompetence of Her Pilot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Inman liner City of New York, whose race across the ocean with the White Star steamer Teutonic ended ingloriously upon a bank of mud in Gedney's Channel last night, is still hard and fast aground. Pilot Reardon practically admits that he made an error in handling the ship. Capt. Lewis did not care to talk much this afternoon, and was very busy giving orders about the disembarkation of the passengers and attending to the comfort of the people on board. Some of the other officers were more communicative, and they seemed to doubt Reardon's skill as a navigator. Reardon says the vessel settled down at once in the mud. They claimed she rocked and shook for some time after foundering, and there was much excitement and alarm, especially among the steerage passengers. Many of the latter made threats against the pilot, but the officers quietly put a stop to these utterances. The passengers were all brought to the city to-day. The vessel lies apparently easy, directly in the path of incoming and outgoing steamers, though she will not be damaged unless a storm comes up. A final attempt to float her will be made at high tide to-night. If this is not successful the cargo will have to be lightered before she can be got off.

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

The Greatest Railway Combination in the World.

Villard's Great Plan Unveiled—A Continuous Line from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—A dispatch from Milwaukee says: A private letter written by President Colby, of the Wisconsin Central road, to the stockholders of the Northern Pacific road, reveals a gigantic consolidation that will connect the two oceans and revolutionize railway traffic. The consolidation of the Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific system in an amicable traffic agreement was the first step. Henry Villard, through an alliance with Charles and Joseph Colby, has obtained a majority of the stock of the Northern Pacific, and a sensation in railroad circles is promised within the next ten days. Henry Villard will be restored to the presidency of the Northern Pacific.

The greatest railway consolidation of the world will be then consummated.

New contracts have been signed whereby the Baltimore & Ohio railroad is to enter into an agreement with the consolidated Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific lines, connecting the two oceans.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe system is also in the deal, reaching to Mexico and Southern California.

Chicago will be made the center for operating the three great railroads.

The Northern Pacific will be extended from Puget Sound into Alaska, making a continuous line from New York to Sitka.

A Family Feud.

ST. ALBANS, W. Va., Oct. 9.—A bloody family feud is raging in Lincoln county, this State, between the Brimfield and Hall families. Floyd Dingess, son of a justice of the peace and a prominent man, married one of the Hall girls. He quarrelled with his wife and they separated, and next day Dingess and his wife's brother met and Dingess was shot dead. Alfred Brimfield had married Dingess' sister. He swore to be avenged on Hall, and fatally wounded one of the Hall brothers. Ten days ago Primfield and his wife were waylaid, and Mrs. Primfield was shot through the head and died. Primfield was terribly wounded. Two days later Purvis Primfield was shot. On Saturday George Dingess, brother of Primfield's wife, was shot through the leg in a fight with one of the opposing party.

EUROPEAN GOSSIP.

A Tower to Eclipse the Famous Paris Structure.

Speculation Upon the Czar's Visit to Germany.

How Americans in Berlin View the Preparations for the Reception of the Russian Emperor.

BULGARIA'S INDEPENDENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The newspapers, both here and on the continent, are indulging in all sorts of speculation upon the significance of Prince Ferdinand's visit to Vienna, and his entertainment by the Emperor Francis Joseph, at the very time that the Czar is about to accept the hospitality of the Emperor of Germany. Upon the coincidence of the two visits is built the most fantastic structure of guess work that the vigorous imagination of a political editor is capable of. None profess to have the slightest foundation of fact for their guesses, yet all are unanimous in the belief that everything is ripe for united action on the part of the three powers most concerned in Bulgarian politics--Germany, Russia and Austria—and that steps will be taken at once to terminate the anomalous position which Bulgaria and her ruler, Prince Ferdinand, have occupied ever since the latter's accession. But right here all unanimity ends. Whether Bulgarian independence is to be declared and Ferdinand confirmed as ruler, or the ties which now nominally bind Bulgaria to the Porte are to be forged into stouter fetters and her prince deposed, are questions upon which there are as many opinions as there are editorial utterances. It is quite likely that the Berlin Tagblatt hits upon the true solution of the whole problem when it declares that Prince Ferdinand's visit to Vienna at this particular juncture is purely accidental, and that all speculation upon its significance is sheer waste of time. The impending visit of the Czar to the German capital and its political import, are subjects which the German papers appear to handle very tenderly. All agree that the visit is a subject of congratulation, but none accept it as an evidence of anything more reassuring than that the two loving monarch's are not yet quite ready to get at one another's throats.

FROM AN AMERICAN VIEW.

Americans who have lived for some years in Berlin, at the imminent risk of running afoul of police officers, sum up their impressions of the elaborate military preparations making for the Czar's reception thus: "When expecting a visitor at my country house I usually tie up my watch-dog and get my plate and valuables ready to exhibit. In the case of the Czar the Germans appear to be only reversing this process."

LACE FACTORY BURNED.

Bauman's celebrated lace factory at Aroback was destroyed by fire yesterday, involving a loss of $75,000.

WOMANS RIGHTS IN SAXONY.

The government of Saxony, which has for some time had under consideration the proposal to admit women to the privilege of the university, has finally decided against it.

THE BIG TOWER.

A well-known London engineer who was one of the 250 members of the Iron and Steel Institute entertained in Paris last week by M. Eiffel and the president of the French society of engineers, gives an interesting account of a conversation he had with M. Eiffel, in which that gentleman gave his opinion of the feasibility of constructing a tower on the plan of the Eiffel structure in Paris, of such dimensions as are proposed for the tower to be constructed on the site of the Chicago world exposition of 1892. In this convention M. Eiffel expressed his undoubted confidence that the plan of the Paris structure with some slight modifications which experience had suggested to him could be safely adopted for a tower twice its height, and that with this plan a tower of any altitude desired presented no engineering difficulties whatever, but was simply a question of outlay. If the American exposition committee were ambitious to possess a tower 2,000 feet high they had simply to provide funds and the structure would spring up from the ground in nine months after the order is given. Of course great care would have to be exercised in the selection of a suitable site, as upon this would very largely depend the stability of the structure.

FRANCE'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS THE VATICAN.

The Rome correspondent of the Chronicle telegraphs that the Archbishop of Rheims arrived there to-day conveying to the Pope a message from President Carnot, thanking him for his neutrality throughout the recent French elections. In return, President Carnot promised to support a moderate and conciliatory policy toward the church. The same correspondent also telegraphs that the Pope has requested Cardinal Manning to supply him with information on the subject of relations between workmen and their employers in England.

TWELVE HOURS A DAY.

To the demand of their men for shorter hours, the different tramway companies of north London have offered to reduce the number of working hours to 12 per day's work. It is expected the other companies will follow and that an amicable settlement will be reached on this basis.

CABLE NEWS.

The Outrages in Crete.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Mail advices from Crete bring fresh accounts of the wanton cruelty practiced by the Turks upon the Christian population of the island. The Turkish officials connive at the outrages, and all complaints on the part of the victims are met with derisive laughter.

Lord Cranbrook's Retirement.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Viscount Cranbrook, Lord President of the Privy Council, is about to retire from the Cabinet, owing to ill-health.

Newmarket Races.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The chief event in the racing world to-day was the race for the Czarwitch stakes. It occurred at the second Newmarket October meeting, and is one of the richest autumn events. Speculation on this event has been very strong for several months, and to-day many of the betters are badly hurt. The Czarwitch stakes is a handicap of 250 sovereigns each, 10 sovs. forfeit with 500 sovs. added, for 3 year-old and upward, the owner of the second horse to receive 200 sovs. and the third 100 sovs. of the stakes; entrance, 5 sovs. It was won by Garter's 4-year-old filly, "Primrose Day," by Sir Bevis, out of Bonny Spec. A. Taylor's four-year-old bay or brown colt "Ingram," by "Isonomy," out of "Pirate Queen," was second; and Noel Fenwick's 3-year-old chestnut filly "Mercy," by "Barcaldine," out of "Clemence," was third. There were twenty-five starters, and the winner was an outsiders. It started at the long price of 20 to 1 against, and was not at all well thought of except by the owner. "Ingram" was another outsider, and "Mercy" was third choice. The attendance at the race course was very large.

Queen Natalie's Palace.

BELGRADE, Oct. 10.—Queen Natalie has just given an order for new furniture for her palace, and carefully instructed the makers to adorn it with the royal arms. The government party is furious over the Queen's utter disregard of their authority, but appear entirely without recourse.

Germany and the Vatican.

ROME, Oct. 10.—Herr Von Schloezer, German minister to the Vatican, had a second conference with the Pope to-day, lasting two hours. It is believed among the subjects discussed was the attitude of Germany toward the Pope in the event of his finding it necessary to take his departure from Rome.

Death of an Ex-Lord Mayor.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Sir Benjamin Samuel Phillips, ex-Lord Mayor of London and ex-alderman for Farringdon, died to-day, aged 72. Sir Benjamin, who was the second lord mayor of the Jewish faith, retired from the aldermanic court a year ago in favor of his son. He was elected lord mayor in 1805 and knighted in 1866 in recognition of his efforts to relieve the cholera sufferers in India in 1866.

The Czar's Visit to Berlin.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 9.—The semi-official Novoe Vremya says: "The Czar's visit to Berlin will not affect the political situation. The grave injuries that Russia has suffered through constantly favoring the aggrandisement of Prussia, is now known and keenly felt by the Czar, who has finally announced his policy of unrequited complaisance. Germany will derive no advantage from the interview between the Emperors beyond the removal of the anxiety arising from the repeated postponements of the Czar's visit.

THOUSANDS OF SALUTES.

Germany's Welcome to the Czar of Russia.

His Imperial Majesty Closely Guarded by Marines Upon His Arrival at Kiel.

BERLIN, Oct. 10. — The Russian imperial yacht "Deijova," with the Czar on board, rode into the harbor of Kiel this afternoon and anchored opposite the Castle, amid thousands of salutes from the guns of the Castle and those of the warships comprising the British and German squadrons riding at anchor in the harbor. Hardly had the Deijova come to an anchor, when she was boarded by the officers delegated by Emperor William to represent him—General Von Wender, Genl. Von Koltenborn, Genl. Stachan, Admirals Gotz and Kron, and Court-Marshall Von Seekendorff—all of whom warmly greeted the Czar on behalf of the Emperor William. Count Schouvaloff, Russian ambassador at Berlin, also came on board and cordially welcomed his imperial master. The whole party remained on board until the special train which was to convey them to Berlin was in readiness, when the Czar and his suite left the vessel, under a heavy escort of marines, and proceeded to the railway station. The Czar was closely guarded, and none but the marines and soldiers were able to obtain so much as a glimpse of him in the course of his trip from the yacht to the train.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Sir John Macdonald Speaks at Westport.

Defending the Government's Action on the Jesuit Question.

Insurance Companies With an Assessment Plan Cannot Carry on Business With a Provincial Charter Only.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 9.—Thanksgiving Day has been fixed for November 7th.

Sir John delivered an important speech at a Methodist picnic at Westport yesterday. He entered into an elaborate defence of the Government's action on the Jesuits' Estates Act, and said that if Col. O'Brien's motion had carried he would promptly have resigned.

The minister of justice has given an opinion that insurance companies with an assessment plan cannot legally carry on business with a provincial charter only. They must have a Dominion charter.

Nearly all the ministers are back in town.

THE SEAL INDUSTRY.

The Alaska Commercial Co. Want it all Themselves.

Louis Schloss Terms the Sealers a Desperate and Criminally Inclined Class of Men.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10. — Louis Schloss, of the Alaska Commercial Co., in speaking of Alaska matters to-day, said: "Our lease expires on the 1st of May next, but if the present state of affairs continue the company will not renew the lease, and I do not think any other company will get it. Illicit sealing is being continually and persistently carried on by desperate and criminally inclined classes of men. The number of piratical vessels in Behring's sea is greater this year than formerly. The government cutter has done what it could, but it is entirely powerless to watch the whole region. The government must afford some protection or the lease will be worthless, for Behring's Sea seals are rapidly diminishing in numbers, and at the present rate of indiscriminate slaughter a seal will soon be as rare as a buffalo. Unless we could be guaranteed absolute protection against illegal sealing we would under no circumstances renew the lease."

RECIPROCITY.

The Montreal Gazette takes the proper view of the new Liberal programme. It shows that the question of reciprocity is not exclusively Canadian and that it is not necessarily Liberal. It suggests that when the proper time comes to deal with it effectively it will probably form a prominent feature in the policy of the Conservative Party. This is what the Gazette says on the subject, and coming from the leading Conservative newspaper of the province of Quebec it is well worthy the attention of our readers.

"The only other topic touched upon by the Liberal leader was the trade question, and with it he dealt very briefly. He proclaimed himself for unrestricted reciprocity, and exhorted his audience to make it the one single issue between parties. He believes the United States will treat for freer trade relations with Canada, and if his conviction is well founded, IT IS CERTAIN THAT THE OPPORTUNITY WILL NOT BE WITHHELD BY THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT AT OTTAWA. The Conservative party has always sought an extension of trade on fair and mutually advantageous lines; has repeatedly endeavored to conclude a reciprocity arrangement with the neighboring country, and as recently as December, 1887, proposed as a solution of the fishery controversy a settlement on the broad lines of reciprocal commerce. Up to this time these efforts have proved unavailing. Whether the present administration at Washington, elected to maintain in its integrity the protective principle in the tariff, will be better disposed to consider the question, time can only disclose, but certain it is that until the attitude of the American Government, in all its branches, is known, it is utter folly for Mr. Laurier and his party to parade unrestricted reciprocity as an essential of Canadian prosperity, or as within the grasp of the Canadian people, however much they may desire it. THE TRADE QUESTION AS PRESENTED BY MR. LAURIER CANNOT BE MADE AN ISSUE IN CANADA UNTIL CONGRESS HAS SPOKEN. We may fight for and against protection, free imports, or a tariff for revenue only as the fiscal policy of the Dominion, because the determination of the tariff is within the power of Parliament, but reciprocity is dependent on the will of another nation, and until that nation declares its attitude to have changed, and expresses its willingness to negotiate, IT IS CHILD'S PLAY, THE VERY ACME OF FOLLY, TO ATTEMPT TO CLOTHE THE QUESTION WITH THE DIGNITY OF AN ALL-ABSORBING ISSUE BETWEEN PARTIES IN CANADA."

The sentences we have taken the liberty to underline present the subject of reciprocity in its true light and show the attitude which Canadian parties must take with respect to it. Whether we get reciprocity or not does not depend solely or even principally on any action which the people of this Dominion may take.

RUMORS OF WAR.

The most contradictory reports come over the cable with respect to the prospects of war in Europe. One telegram tells us that war is imminent, that Germany is making preparations for war, that the attitude of Rassia is threatening, and that France and Italy are ready to fly at each others' throats. We see by other telegrams that the best understanding exists between the Emperors of Russia and Germany, that the Czar is about to pay his neighbor, the young Emperor, a visit; that France is peaceful, and that Italy has no desire for war. But we see nothing about any cessation of warlike preparations. Not a word is said about any of the great powers lessening their military establishments to the slightest extent. On the contrary word comes to us that those armaments are being strengthened in various ways, and that Europe keeps itself ready for war at a moment's notice. This is not a sensational view of the condition of Europe. Cool and dispassionate observers, who have every opportunity of seeing what is going on, come to precisely the same conclusion as the most sensational of newspaper correspondents. This is what Mr. Laveleye, one of the most philosophical and best-informed of European publicists, says about the situation in the October number of the Forum.

"Every one is convinced," he says, "that at any moment so horrible a war may break out that all other wars, even that of secession in America, will be but child's play in comparison. The adversaries which we foresee obliged to take up arms, Russia and France on the one side, Germany, Austria and Italy on the other, will bring seven millions of men on the battlefield, with a reserve of ten millions. By means of the rapid concentration rendered possible by the railways we shall witness, even during the first few days, two collisions, one in the east, the other in the west, in which three millions of human beings will be seen struggling together, for both sides will endeavor to crush their enemy under the attack of innumerable masses. No strategist, not even Moltke himself, can foresee what such a conflict shall be like; all we can say is that the number of killed and wounded will, in one day, surpass that of an entire war of former times. Human blood will never have soaked the earth in such streams."

This is a dreadful picture, and what makes it more impressive is that no one knows where or how soon it may be a horrible reality.

A WORKING SCIENTIST.

Edison has just returned from Europe. The savants of the old world welcomed him cordially. They know how much he has done for the industrial world and how much for science. The philosophers were surprised to find the great electrician so unlike themselves. Edison is a man who owes very little to the schools. He is an indefatigable student, but the college he works in is a bigger one than was ever founded by the wisdom and liberality of governments and churches, or the generosity of individuals. His school has been the world and Nature has been his teacher. He has been unable to separate practice from theory. He is a worker as well as a dreamer. He has had wonderful dreams, but he did something more than record them in order that other other men might reduce them to practice. He himself gave form and shape in substantial material to his airy visions. He is a horny-handed scientist, a savant who is more at home in the workshop than he is in the study. The European students and professors and doctors of this that and the other, were struck with the difference between Edison and themselves. He said to an American interviewer: "The scientific men abroad were greatly surprized that I was not more of a scientist in the higher sense of the phrase. They could not understand that I am between the scientific man and the public." It seems to us that Edison underestimates himself. He is a scientific man. A man unacquainted with science—a mere mechanical adapter of other men's knowledge—could not possibly do the things that he has done and that he proposes doing. His peculiarity is that he is not content with knowing; he must be also doing. His last project presupposes an extent and variety of theoretical knowledge of which the most learned of the savants might be proud. It is to invent a device to attach to the telephone that will enable the sender and the receiver of a message to see as well as to hear each other. It is hard to imagine the amount of knowledge of various kinds that a man must possess who undertakes to perform what to ordinary people appears to be so near a miracle with anything like a prospect of success. How many men are there who pass for philosophers who have any idea of the possibility of working such a wonder?

Mr. Edison said to the same interviewer: "I did not receive any valuable suggestions that I know of in electricity over there." It is not likely that he would. The probability is that he knows more about electricity, its nature and its possibilities, than any other living man. He, no doubt, could teach the European scientists much about electricity, but it is not likely that any of them could enlighten him on the branch of science, which he has made the study of his life time. Edison is appreciated in Europe. He said to the interviewer:

"I come back decorated with the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor of France. I was made a Commander, the highest title they confer on foreigners. I have attended more dinners since I left these shores than in my whole previous existence. I haven't had time to think hardly since I landed in Europe. My mind has been in a constant whirl. The Paris Exposition is simply bewildering. If the Americans hope to surpass they will have to get to work and never loiter.

"At Heidelberg the German Association of Advanced Scientists gave me a dinner, at which were 1,200 guests. The Grand Duke of Baden was there with all his guards, and he delivered an address through the phonograph in German. It brought down the house, as every word of it was delivered in such clear tones that it could be heard out of doors. The people go to bed in that town at 10 o'clock, but that night we were making things hum at 3."

THE ALL-AMERICAN CONGRESS.

The speech with which Mr. Secretary Blaine opened the All-American Congress is very highly spoken of. It was certainly worthy of the occasion. The nature of the Congress is well described in the following felicitous sentences:

"The delegates whom I am addressing can do much to establish permanent relations of confidence, respect and friendship between the nations they represent. They can show to the world an honorable and peaceful conference of seventeen independent American powers in which all shall meet together on terms of absolute equality; a conference in which there can be no attempt to coerce a single delegate against his own conception of the interests of his nation; a conference which will permit no secret understanding on any subject but will frankly publish to the world all its conclusions; a conference which will tolerate no spirit of conquest but will aim to cultivate an American sympathy as broad as both continents; a conference which will form no selfish alliance against the older nations from which we are proud to claim inheritance; a conference, in fine, which will seek nothing, propose nothing, endure nothing that is not in the general sense of all the delegates timely, wise and peaceful."

From such a conference as this nothing but good ought to come. No country on the other side of the ocean will, we are sure, be displeased to see the nations on the American continent living in peace and good neighborhood. A sentence in Mr. Blaine's speech is very significant, and shows in a striking manner the difference of the relations that exist between the nations of the New and of the Old World. It is this: "We believe that standing armies, beyond those which are needful for public order and the safety of internal administration should be unknown on both American continents." If the Congress of All Americans shall result in creating such a feeling of confidence between the nations of North and South America that standing armies will be considered wholly unnecessary it will be one of the most beneficent councils that ever met in any age of the world. When it is considered how the people of Europe are burdened with taxes to keep up immense military and naval establishments, how men of all classes are forced to spend some of the best years of their lives in learning the art of war, and how the peaceful population of every nation is exposed to the horrors and the losses of war, the assemblage of men which can keep these evils from the American continent, north and south, must be looked upon as conferring blessings of untold value on a large proportion of the human race. As long as the conference endeavors to accomplish the ends proposed by Mr. Blaine, there will be nothing but good words for it from all quarters.

There was a suspicion that the Americans would endeavor to get from the nations represented in it, by diplomacy and scheming, a commercial position, which they have not been able to gain by fair and open competition. It may be that this suspicion is groundless, and if Mr. Blaine means what he says, it certainly is. As our neighbors have learned to their cost, it is impossible to divert trade from its natural channels, and it may be that Mr. Blaine, knowing this, will make a virtue of necessity, and not try to unduly influence the members of the Congress in favor of the United States in the way of trade.

We see that the London Times does not appear to be in the least disturbed by the conference of the American nations, it is not afraid that the American diplomatists will take from Great Britain any trade advantage which it has gained by the enterprise of its merchants. It says in an article on the Pan-American Congress, written in the best spirit: "He (the Secretary of State) may justly believe that he has thereby increased his country's legitimate and predestined influence over the Southern Continent, but to that influence time and the course of events have put strict limits, and he must see as we do that the International Congress can do but little to divert the current of commerce determined by those true trade winds, the interests of mankind."

We observe that many of the Americans themselves take this view of the results of the deliberations of the Congress, and ridicule the idea that it will result in direct commercial advantage to the United States.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS.

THE organ is evidently getting better. It does not scold so shrilly as it did, and it is not nearly so bilious. It will, no doubt, soon be quite well again, and will be able to discuss public questions decently and rationally. Its nervous system must have been dreadfully out of order when it lost its temper over such a trifle as our refusal to discuss seriously a nonsensical telegram, which may, for aught we know to the contrary, be one of the artistic productions of the Ottawa liar. The organ produced no evidence whatever of the authenticity of the telegram about which it is making such a terrible ado. It is possible that there is method in our contemporary's querulousness and touchiness. It may be in search of a grievance—on the hunt for ammunition. It may have some hidden reason for kicking up a row, and the Chinese question affords it the best pretext it can find to get into a passion. But it had better keep cool. There is no use in its pretending to be frightened when there is no cause for alarm, and when every one else is as cool as a cucumber. An agitation cannot be commenced on a vague unauthenticated telegram. The organ cannot work its little racket with such a very small amount of material. What is it up to? Why does it not come out and in plain terms say what it is driving at?

HE HIT THE OWL.

A Clever Job Put Up on One of Boston's Suburban Nimrods.

Out in one of the suburbs of Boston there lives a business man who is much given to guning, and whose fondness for the sports of the field has according to the Boston Journal, passed into a proverb among his friends. Like most hunters he is given, also, to relating occasionally, in a modest way, his triumphs with his gun. His fire-arms are always kept in perfect order, and in easy reach, as if he expected to get a shot at a bear or an antelope in his back yard at any moment. Perhaps his near relatives may have thought he needed a little "taking down," or else they acted from pure mischievousness, when, on a recent night, they put up a job on this suburban Nimrod. They procured a stuffed owl, and when darkness had fallen upon the earth they fastened this owl upon a high branch of a maple tree in the yard. The huntsman's wife was in the secret. Early the next morning the wife was up, and the little girl as well. The little girl wasn't in the secret. As soon as it was light the mother, who had gone out of doors for something, called the little girl out.

"There is something up in that tree, my dear," she said, "and I can't make out quite what it is—my eyesight is so poor. Can you see what it is?"

The little girl looked up into the tree.

"Why, it's a great, big owl, mamma."

"I guess it is."

"Oh, I'll go and tell papa, and he'll shoot it with his gun."

So the little girl ran and waked up her father, saying:

"Papa, papa, there's a great, big owl up in the maple tree out in the yard."

The father did not need a second admonition. He got up, dressed himself hastily, seized his $200 hammerless shot-gun, and hastened out into the yard. There was the owl, up high on the top limb of the tree, "as big as life and twice as natural." He could have sworn that the bird winked one eye at him. He raised his gun, took excellent aim, and fired.

And then down came a shower of feathers, bran, sawdust and glass-eye, and up went several windows in the neighborhood, where the neighbors, who had been let into the secret and were on the watch for the performance, had stationed themselves, all provided with tin horns, upon which they blew a tremendous blast. The hunter looked at the remains of the stuffed owl, listened to the blast on the tin horns, and beat a hasty and demoralized retreat into the house. He says that the price of the owl has been the smallest part of the cost of his exploit. But he takes some little satisfaction from the fact that he hit the owl, anyway.

SOME QUEER WILLS.

Extraordinary Documents Copied from South Carolina Court Records.

In overhauling some of the old books in the records of the probate court, Judge Gleason has, according to the Charleston News and Courier, come across some queer documents. Here are some of them:

A man, who has been dead so long that he shall be nameless, was hanged in Charleston for murder. He protested his innocence to the last, and the day before his execution made a will leaving his personal property, valued at $439 in money, and a silver watch and chain to his relative. The last clause of the will is as follows:

"As I am to be hung to-morrow for the murder of ——, of which crime I am innocent, and firmly believing that I was found guilty by a packed jury, I bequeath to this jury eternal damnation, and in order that their names may be known to posterity I herein insert their names, ——, foreman, and eleven others. I order and direct that my executor hereinafter named shall deliver my body to the medical students of Charleston, S. C., and they are requested to have my bones properly cleaned, my skeleton properly mounted, so that it will pass down as a proof of the bribery and corruption used in the conviction of an innocent man."

Another man, long since deceased, and who was evidently a wealthy Frenchman, after disposing of his estate, provides for an erring daughter as follows:

"It is to me a great cause of mortification and regret to mention the name of Clotilde, my daughter, now twenty-three years old. To protect this instrument I bequeath to her one barleycorn. I pray she will repent and prepare for the Lord's forgiveness."

Another man, who was a widower, and had an only daughter who seems to have been the cause of much trouble to her father, disposes of his estate and gives to his daughter "My blood horse, Jim, feeling satisfied that if she will either ride or drive him it is likely she will be brought home a corpse, in which satisfactory event then let the horse be sold and the proceeds given to the poor."

TOOLS AND MACHINES.

According to an Old Mechanic They Grow Tired Just Like Men.

It is a common complaint among mechanics that their tools do not serve them as well some days as others.

A correspondent of the Iron Industry Gazette says: Tools, like men, grow tired. I have seen a first-class chisel get tired and act as though it was possessed of the king of sheol. It would not keep its edge, and the more I sharpened it the sooner it would lose its edge.

I called the attention of a shop-mate, a grizzled old veteran, to the curious behavior of the chisel. He looked it over and handed it back to me saying; "The tool is all right, only a little tired. Lay it away and let it rest. It will come out all right again, just like a man who is tired." I did not believe the old fellow, and I really thought he was crazy to talk of a tool getting "tired," but as there was no help for it, the tool was laid away. I do not remember how long it was left to rest, but when it was again sharpened and used it appeared to hold its keenest edge as well as it did before it got tired. Barbers tell me their razors in constant use get tired in the same way, and wood-choppers say their axes sometimes seem to get soft all at once. Possibly constant and hard usage may cause changes in crystallization that would account satisfactorily for the peculiarity alluded to. Locomotive engineers often observe peculiar misbehavior in their machines, which may possibly be the result of continued heating, friction and pounding. When a tool gets "tired" or a machine "balky," give each a rest.

Keep to the Right.

A quaint lesson in economy was given by an Englishwoman of wealth and position to an American friend. It related to the method of preserving a stair-carpet, and to keep it in its entirety as long as possible. She and her husband had agreed, the one to keep always to the right in going up and down, and the other to walk only upon the left-hand side of the carpet. It was expected that the company would keep exclusively in the center of the stair-way, and that, as a result of the arrangement, the stair-carpet would grow old with equal rapidity.

THAT DANCE AT ESQUIMALT.

TO THE EDITOR:—A dance was given last night at the Blue Ribbon Hall, Esquimalt, in aid of an organ somewhere in the vicinity. A committee formed of the stewards of H. M. ships took the thing in hand, but to the regret of the first and and second class p. o. and bluejackets, notice was given that men in uniform would not be admitted. I think this was not at all right. Perhaps the committee thought men in uniform might become intoxicated, and mar the evening's amusement. Are not civilians liable to misconduct themselves as well. A man should not be judged by his outward appearance. I should like to hear of a committee formed of first and second class p. o.'s to arrange an evening's dance where men in uniform would be admitted.

ONE INTERESTED.

Victoria, Oct. 10th, 1889.

A NARROW-GAUGE COMMITTEE.

TO THE EDITOR:—I have just seen a map of the Royal Hospital property it is proposed to sell at auction on the 15th inst. Contrary to popular expectation, Pandora street has not been widened. It remains a mere alleyway, twenty feet in width, while property holders on either side of the hospital land express a willingness to contribute towards widening the street, and the corporation of the city stand ready to open Pandora street to the Jubilee Hospital.

The directors of the hospital had a glorious opportunity to secure a wide thoroughfare in place of an alleyway; but they have adopted a policy that is as narrow as their own minds. If the land should be sold on the 15th the opportunity to widen Pandora street will not again occur.

I hope that wiser counsel will prevail, and that the sale will be postponed until the subscribers to the fund shall have had a chance to be heard on the subject. A SUBSCRIBER.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

Obituary.

Captain Thomas Huntington, one of the most popular commanders in the employ of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co., died at San Francisco on Friday last. The funeral took place on Tuesday, the flags of all the P. C. S. S. Co.'s vessels in port being placed at half-mast.

Our Tram Cars.

The St. Catharines Journal of the 30th ult. says of the Victoria cars, just shipped from that place for service here: "In elegance of build and magnificence of finish we venture to say that the Victoria street cars, made by Patterson & Corbin are without superiors between here and the Pacific coast."

The Witness Enjoyed Himself.

James Shepard came to town on Wednesday from Salt Spring Island to give evidence in the Kanaka cutting case in the Speedy Trials court. He gave his evidence, and then proceeded to fill up on Capital whiskey to such an extent that he speedily became festive and abusive. He was sooned lassoed by the guardians of the law, and paid $5 and costs for his fun in yesterday's police court.

Undertakers in Council.

The third annual convention of the Northwest Funeral Directors' Association met in Portland on Wednesday. Mayor De Lashmutt delivered the address of welcome, and O. H. Harland, of Tacoma, responded. The following officers were elected: President, L. W. Bonney, Seattle; first vice-president, E. B. Fellows, McMinnville; second vice-president, Charles Hayward, Victoria; secretary, C. J. Crandall, The Dalles; treasurer, William Mitchell, The Dalles. The undertakers held a banquet last night.

Murderer Lee's Second Trial.

A dispatch from Los Angeles says: The second trial of Richard Lee for the murder of William Duncan in 1871 began yesterday with the empanelling of a jury. After the murder Lee escaped to the northwest, where he resided for some fifteen years. Two years ago he became involved in a quarrel in Victoria, B. C., and was sentenced to prison for a year. Deputy Sheriff Russell, of this city, brought him here from Ellensburg, Wash., and a few months ago he was tried and convicted, but a new trial was ordered.

County Court.

Two cases were disposed of in this court yesterday, Sir M. B. Begbie, C.J., presiding. They were as follows:—

Nicholls v. Anderson: Suit to recover $1,000 damages, alleded to have been suffered by plaintiff falling through a trap door into the cellar of the Clarance Hotel. Non-suited. Mr. Belyea, instructed by Mr. Hett, for plaintiff; Mr. E. V. Bodwell for defendant.

Cameron v. Marston: To recover the amount of a promisory note. Judgment for plaintiff for $35. Mr. Charles Wilson for plaintiff; Mr. T. Fell for defendant.

A Victory for the Strikers.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. John Weiler announced that he was willing to accede to the demand made by the cabinet makers in his employ that nine hours shall in future constitute a working day, with no reduction in the pay that has formerly been given for ten hours' labor. This concession abundantly satisfies the men, and they will return to work this morning. Messrs. Muirhead & Mann have also adopted the nine hour system and their men have returned to work. The carpenters employed by Messrs. Johnson, Walker & Fett are now the only ones out.

Found in the Woods.

At about eight o'clock on Wednesday evening Mr. James Anderson, chief engineer of the C. P. N. Co., while walking in the woods near the harbor light, came across a large pile of clothing, evidently the contents of several trunks. From the strange appearance of the find he concluded that the clothes were stolen property, and he immediately notified the police of his discovery. Supt. Sheppard took possession of the clothes, which were the contents of two trunks stolen from a lady passenger on the Rainbow. A keen lookout is being kept for the thieves.

He Came to Victoria.

Frank Merrill, of Seattle, against whom a charge of grand larceny has been pending in Justice Miller's court for nearly two weeks, has skipped and it is supposed is now in Victoria. Merrill is accused of taking certain baggage, belonging to a friend named Earle, from the transfer company under false pretences and disposing of it to his own profit. Deputy Sheriff Holden followed him to Port Townsend only to discover that Merrill had left just a few hours ahead of him to avoid the police, who were after him for getting away with $50 belonging to one J. W. Baker, with whom he had business dealings.

The Alaskan Winter Service.

The Post-Intelligencer says that the repairs to the steamer Corona will be completed in time for her to start for Alaska to-morrow. She will take up but a few passengers and a small freight. The business of this line will be light until next spring, but the George W. Elder and the Corona, if no other boats can be obtained, will be kept on during the winter. The Pacific Coast Steamship Company is negotiating for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company's boat, the City of Topeka, but, as far as known, she has not been secured. The City of Topeka has been out of commission for some time past. Capt. Davey Wallace, formerly of the Ancon, goes north on the Corona in place of Capt. James Carroll, who takes a vacation for the winter.

Snowflake Minstrels.

It is to be regretted that The Victoria was not better filled last evening, when the Snowflake Minstrels from H.M.S. Swiftsure gave one of their pleasing entertainments, under the patronage of the Lieut.-Governor and the Admiral and in aid of the funds of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital. Better musical odds and ends have seldom been heard in Victoria, and the "gags" and "stage business" was for the most part of recent coinage and consequently well appreciated. The first part brought out the full musical strength of the company, whose songs, banjo, violin and tin whistle music, could not but be enjoyed by all who listened to it. The tin whistle soloist was especially good, the notes of his primitive instrument rivalling those of the flute.

Part the second was as good as the first part, and the whole was concluded with an amusing farce entitled: "Good accommodation for Man and Beast." Prof. Sharpe presided at the piano.

Little Lord Fauntleroy.

The announcement that the latest great success of the American stage, Little Lord Fauntleroy, has been secured for three nights at The Victoria will be pleasing intelligence for the theatre-goers of this city. Opening on Thursday night, the play will run until the end of the week, with Saturday matinee. It is a careful dramatization of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's delightful story of the same name, and in speaking of it the Boston Gazette says:

"Mrs. Burnett's fine literary workmanship and excellent taste have been brought to bear upon her drama with conspicuous judgment. Both the pathos and the humor are exquisitely refined, and the charm and brilliancy of the book are repeated with a renewal of their original fascinating effect in the play. The characters are forcibly sketched, and the hero loses nothing of his primal sweetness and delicacy by stepping from the narrative to the stage. The play deserves popularity and teaches a lesson that cannot be too widely learned. The piece, which was well staged, was received with pleasure and every sign of satisfaction."

More Cattle from Up Country.

The cattle are now coming down in great numbers, both by boat and rail, from Kamloops, Semilkameen and the surrounding district. Three more carloads, containing about fifty head of cattle, arrived at the Westminster depot Wednesday afternoon from up country and were shipped to Victoria yesterday on the steamer Princess Louise.

Trade Notes.

The Olympian last evening brought one carload of meat, another of glassware, and two carloads of general merchandise, consisting principally of Canadian goods.

The Islander last night brought two carloads of sugar, one of eggs, one of butter, one of whiskey and one of miscellaneous freight.

Steamer Brick came in last night with fruit, chickens, rabbits and eggs from San Juan.

Last evening the Princess Louise came in with a full cargo of hay, cattle and potatoes from New Westminster.

Close of the Bazaar.

The fancy fair in aid of the orphans of St. Ann's was brought to a successful close last evening, the greater part of the many pretty articles exposed for sale having been disposed of. Last night's attendance was most gratifying, the hall being almost uncomfortably crowded. In the early part of the evening music was furnished by the Queen City band. A large number of musical selections were also given by the Bantly family orchestra, of five pieces. Every stall was well patronized and did a profitable business. Credit for the success of the bazaar of 1889 should largely be given to Mrs. Haynes, the president of the society, and her working committee, consisting of Mrs. Lubbe, Mrs. Dunlevy and Mrs. McQuade. The refreshment stand was presided over by Mrs. Madigan and Mrs. Walters.

At 8:30 o'clock this evening the bazaar will be again opened to the public, when the winners of the various articles raffled for will be announced.

Explorations of the Patterson.

The United States coast surveying steamer Carlyle F. Patterson arrived at Port Townsend on Wednesday afternoon on her way to San Francisco from her season's survey of the Southern Alaska coast. The Patterson left port, going north, on the 15th of last April, and arrived at Cleveland passage, a few miles above Cape Fanshaw, on the 27th of April. From this point she made surveys of the coast about Admiralty Island, Seymour Canal and Holkhan Bay, where the season's work terminated. The season was generally rainy, with but two weeks of fine weather in July, and this was of perfect beauty. The scenery of the unexplored Admiralty Island is spoken of by the officers as most grand and sublime, and the glaciers of Holkhan Bay were beautiful and interesting.

The Gedna, now on the coast of Oregon, will sail next season and resume the survey. The Patterson started homeward from Juneau September 29th.

THE SAANICH SHOW.

An Exhibition in Every Respect Creditable to the District.

The twenty-first annual exhibition of the Saanich Agricultural Society was held in the agricultural hall, South Saanich, yesterday. The attendance from Victoria and the surrounding district was far larger than in former years, proving that interest in the Saanich fair is by no means on the wane. Among those noticed on the grounds were Hon. Mr. Theodore Davie, Mr. M. W. Waitt, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dalby, Mr. J. W. Taylor, Mr. H. D. Helmcken, Messrs. Anderson and Tolmie, M. P. P.'s, Mr. Ker, Mr. Dugan, Sergt. Walker, Mr. William Angus, and a host of others, including many ladies.

The residents of Saanich may certainly take credit to themselves for their exhibition, and although in some divisions the entries were not large, what was lacking in quantity was more than made up in quality. The horses made a splendid showing, some really fine animals being entered. The swine, cattle, sheep and poultry, although small in numbers, were all exhibits of merit, and the judges in several instances were puzzled to whom to award the palm.

In the interior of the hall, the most attractive display was made, the grain and fruit exhibits being above all praise. In quantity and variety the showing of grain exceeded that at the provincial show, and the quality could not be surpassed anywhere in the Dominion. The fruit exhibit, especially apples, was large and of the choicest description. Some magnificent peaches, shown by Mr. G. W. Anderson, deservedly took first prize, and the assortment of apples entered by Mr. Wm. Beaumont was highly praised by the visitors, and took more than one prize.

In the vegetable line, there was a nice display of mammoth pumpkins, turnips, carrots, onions and squash, and over a dozen choice varieties of potatoes.

The exhibit of dairy produce was confined to butter, but this could not be better in quality.

In the ladies' prizes, the exhibit was small but of exquisite taste, showing that the ladies of the district are as successful at needlework as they are in the dairy.

To the officers of the society and the energetic committee every praise is due for the success of the exhibition, these gentlemen having worked early and late to produce a satisfactory result. The officers were: J. D. Bryant, President; P. Imrie, Vice-President; J. T. McIlmoyle, Secretary; H. Brackman, Treasurer. Committee: S. Roberts, S. Sandover, Wm. White, D. McDonald, S. Dean, T. The Grand Lodge Concludes the Business of the Annual Session.

The morning session yesterday was chiefly taken up with the installation of officers and addresses by the same, and the afternoon session with miscellaneous business generally, appointment of committees for the ensuing year, etc., etc.

In the evening the Juvenile Templars, having been invited by the Grand Lodge, attended in full force, Superintendent Sister Robertson in the chair. After the opening exercises and usual routine business, Grand Chief McGillvray, general superintendent of juvenile work Sister Jenkins, and Bro. Holt, respectively addressed the lodge, expressing themselves as highly pleased with the excellent manner in which those so young acquitted themselves. Afterward the lodge adjourned, and the evening session of the Grand Lodge began, at which reports of committees were received and other important business was transacted. The Grand Lodge subsequently adjourned, to meet at Nanaimo next year, each one feeling that the prospects of Good Templary for the ensuing year are brighter than ever. Already a first-class lecturer has been engaged, and is expected to be here in a week or ten days, and others are to follow during the year. Good results are expected for the temperance cause.
